Helping to restore confidence and identity

The Little Princess Trust was set up in 2005 by the parents of Hannah Tarplee.

When Hannah underwent chemotherapy, she found the loss of her hair understandably difficult.

Her parents looked to find a wig for their daughter but struggled to find anything suitable for a young child.

Understanding just how important a person's hair is to their identity, Hannah's parents established The Little Princess Trust so that any child who lost their hair to cancer treatment could receive a real hair wig completely free of charge.

As more support arrived, the charity expanded its services to offer its free real hair wigs to young people who had lost their hair to other medical conditions.

The Little Princess Trust now provides more than 2,000 real hair wigs every year to children and young people up to the age of 24 years.

Wendy Tarplee-Morris helped to set up The Little Princess Trust after struggling to find a suitable wig for her daughter, Hannah.

Wigs specifically designed for children and young people

Our wigs are available to anyone in the UK and Ireland, up to the age of 24, who has lost their own hair due to cancer treatment.

In addition to this, we are also able to help those with hair loss due to other medical conditions, where stock levels allow.

Hand-made from 100% donated human hair, a constant goal for all associated with the charity is to ensure the wigs are of the very highest quality.

The Little Princess Trust wigs, which have been professionally designed for a natural appearance, have a lace front to give the appearance of a natural hairline and can be styled with changeable partings.

The wigs are specifically designed for children and young people to give a good fit for maximum comfort, confidence, and security. And as part of the charity's service, each wig is cut and styled by a specialist wig fitter to create a personalised look.

They are made in a range of colours, sizes and lengths, which are extremely versatile as the hair is subjected to only minimal processing during manufacture. So, the good condition of the hair is maintained, making them more receptive to styling.

Every effort is made to give as wide a choice as possible to each wig recipient and to create a wig which closely matches their natural hair colour and style.

We have a wig for everyone!

“These wigs are not to hide hair loss, but to crown courage and bravery.”

“Losing your hair is such a difficult thing to go through, so to put a beautiful wig on and feel like yourself again is so special.”

The Star Range

Our longest wigs measure between 12 and 14 inches (30 – 41cm) in length. Just like the Hero and Crown, the Star range comes in 13 colours and 7 wig cap sizes.

Our beautiful wigs are made from hair which has been kindly donated by our supporters. To manage the expectations of our wig recipients, wigs of this length are in reduced supply due to the smaller number of longer hair donations we receive. Therefore, can currently be offered only to those with hair loss due to cancer treatment.

Our range of Afro-textured wigs

The Little Princess Trust is committed to giving the young people we support the widest choice of wigs.

We are respectful of the heritage of the child or young person while also ensuring wigs can be offered that match someone's natural hair as closely as possible.

By working in partnership with a specialist wigmaker, we are delighted to be able to achieve these key aims by offering wigs made from Afro-textured hair donations.

Some of these wigs are made using a different method to the other wigs in our collection. The team at our wigmakers offer expert advice on the full options available.

Although we work solely with this one specialist wig fitter, anyone interested in receiving an Afro-textured wig should still follow the standard process by first contacting our Wig Referrals Team.

Our staff are happy to explain all the options available which could also include any of the other wigs from our general collection.

How to measure

Only one measurement is required, which is the complete circumference of the head.

Place tape measure as shown in the diagram, following the line where the hairline would start at the front of the head. Then follow behind the top of the ear, down to the nape of the neck below the occipital bone and around the other side.

Please state the size required from the options below when ordering wigs:

SIZES
46 cm	54 cm
48 cm	56 cm
50 cm	58 cm
52 cm

Wig caps

Our wig caps are made from fine lace with a double layered lace closure, making them lightweight and providing maximum comfort. There are silicone strips for extra grip, as well as areas where tape can be applied if appropriate. Elasticated Velcro straps at the nape provide additional adjustment if required for an extra secure fit.

How to order

Orders will be sent out on the same day, so allow 2-3 working days for wigs to arrive.

Our team are on call to assist you and take your wig order.
